Entered as second class matter April 21, 1911 at the post office at Estancia, New Mexico, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

The June weddings are apparently a little late this year, but the rains have made the young fellows all feel so jubilant that "popping the question" doesn't seem hard at all. Let it rain.

Danced on Hot Iron

A free show on the street in front of the Drug Store last night attracted quite a crowd, who witnessed feats apparently impossible. Under the euphonious cognomen of Herschel Vesterspuches, the Fire King of the World, the actor danced barefooted on a redhot plate of boiler steel, welded three links of red-hot iron together with bare hands and feet, licked redhot iron with his bare tongue, and played with fire as if it were not a monster. A number of sleight-of-hand performances added to the evenings entertainment. The way Si Ellis swallowed a half dollar, only to find it in the performer's hat later on. When Si claimed the half dollar had not been in his mouth, the performer drew it out of Si's nose. The entertainment was good and on a more pleasant evening would have drawn a much larger crowd and consequently a larger collection.

Land Office Decisions

The government may appraise the land any time before the applicant has made deposit for the minimum price for the same. Section 19, of the Regulations of November 30, 1908; amended accordingly.

Furthermore, a protest or adverse report may be lodged against an application or entry at any time within two years from the issuance of the final receipt.

All desert entries in a land district that are suspended, pending an investigation of the desert or non-desert character of the land embraced therein, are not subject to contest, (except as to the character of the land), and the entryman is not required to further comply with the law until notified that such order has been revoked, this rule having particular application to improvements.

In desert land cases the burden of proof is upon the entryman to show the character of the land as claimed by him. It is also a rule that lands border upon streams, lakes, or other bodies of water, are not subject to entry under the Desert Land Law, until the clearest proof of their desert character is furnished. Citing State of Oregon (33 L. D. 374).
